

CAREER FAIR PREPARATION: BSOS Majors

Make the most of the fair by implementing the tips below. Ask questions that will allow you to enhance your application materials and gain insight into the work environment.

HOW TO EXCEL AT THE VIRTUAL FAIR

- Be camera ready with an orderly background and good lighting.
- Each employer will see your profile in C4T (example to the right). Add a professional photo before the Fair by visiting your “External Portfolio” in Careers4Terps.
- Check your internet connection and plug your computer into a power source.
- Join multiple video chats (up to 4) and take advantage of group chats.
- Have your resume ready to share with employers and include it in your Fair profile.
- Keep your chats concise by having your 30-second pitch prepared and questions ready for the employer; each chat is on a timer.
- Need help or advice during the Fair? Click the (i) icon towards the top of the page.
- Employers have shared that they will be using Zoom, Google Meet or WebEx for their chats. Make sure you have access to these platforms ahead of time.

SAMPLE ENGAGEMENT QUESTIONS

Prepare questions to gain more information about the position and the organization. You will have 5-15 minutes with employers offering chat hours.

Key Information Questions: Designed to provide you with critical inside information you need to know when making a decision about the attractiveness of each potential employer. Remember, a job fair is a two-way street and you should be evaluating these companies as much as they are evaluating you.

- What is your organization's culture like?
- Are there specific career tracks within the organization?
- This full-time position sounds amazing. Has this position been vacant long? Did the previous employee advance within the organization?
- Can you tell me more about how your organization values diversity?

Strategic Questions: Designed to give job-seekers the chance to gain valuable information and respond with examples of how he/she meets the needs of the organization.

- What kinds of skills and experience do you look for in the employees you hire?
- What are the characteristics of your most successful employees?
- Are graduate degrees important for advancing within your organization?
- Which courses or experiences do you suggest to be a successful candidate?

Planning for the Process: Questions designed to learn more about the hiring process.

- I am interested in XYZ position. I noticed there are two positions open in different cities. What is the best way to note that I am open to both?
- What are the steps in the hiring process?
- How does this position interact with employees within and outside of the department?
- I am interested in two positions with your organization, should I apply separately for each of them or apply once and indicate interest in both?

ROADBLOCKS TO OVERCOME

If you find yourself being directed to apply online, use the opportunity to gain additional information that you can add to your application material.

Consider asking the following questions.

- What is the best way to find out about future openings?
- Are there any tips for submitting my application online (i.e. using plain text format for my resume, using Safari or Internet Explorer, etc.)?
- What happens to my application after I submit it online?
- How can I be sure that my application is received online?
- What do you look for most on entry level resumes?

POST FAIR TIPS

- If you really enjoyed talking to an organization and you want them to remember you, consider sending a thank you email to follow-up on your conversation. Reiterate your skills, remind them of what position you discussed, and highlight the agreed upon next step.
- Consider staying engaged with organizations by following them on LinkedIn or Twitter.
- Visit the website of organizations you are interested in and register to receive alerts of openings.
- Find your organization of interest in Careers4Terps' Employer Directory and click the “favorite star.” All events or positions the employer posts on Careers4Terps will appear under “Notifications,” located on the Home page of Careers4Terps.
