Graduate Fellowship Programs

The Howard University Ralph J. Bunche Center for International Affairs offers several unique opportunities through both the U.S. Department of State Charles B. Rangel International Affairs Fellowship and Thomas R. Pickering Foreign Affairs Fellowship, and USAID Donald M. Payne International Development Fellowship. These programs seek to attract and prepare outstanding young people, based on financial need, who represent groups historically underrepresented in the Foreign Service and have an interest in pursuing a Foreign Service career in the U.S. Department of State and U.S. Agency for International Development.

FELLOWSHIP ELEMENTS & COMPONENTS

- During the two-year fellowship programs, fellows enroll in graduate school and work toward their master's degree throughout the fellowship.
- Fellows will complete two internships, one domestic and the other abroad.
- Throughout the program fellows receive personalized mentoring and professional development opportunities.

FELLOWSHIP ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

- Candidates must be U.S. citizens.
- Candidates must have cumulative GPA of 3.2 or higher on 4.0 scale at the time of applying.
- Candidates must seek admission to a two-year, full-time, on-campus, master's degree program at a U.S.-based graduate institution in a field relevant to Foreign Service starting in fall of the year for which they are applying.

Rangel Summer Enrichment Program

The Charles B. Rangel International Affairs Summer Enrichment Program is a six-week summer program designed to provide undergraduate students with a deeper appreciation of current issues and trends in international affairs, a greater understanding of career opportunities in international affairs, and the enhanced knowledge and skills to pursue such careers. The program selects participants each year from universities throughout the United States. This program encourages the application of members of minority groups historically underrepresented in the Foreign Service, and women.

PROGRAM ELEMENTS & COMPONENTS

- In order to enhance participants' academic preparation to work in international affairs, the Program provides two courses and a seminar that focus on enhancing knowledge and skills related to U.S. foreign policy, economics, and writing.
- Students live at Howard University, attend classes, and participate in a variety of programs with foreign affairs professionals at Howard and at diverse locations around Washington, D.C.
- The program also provides a $3,200 stipend to those who are selected to participate.

RANGEL S.E.P ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

- Applicants must be full-time undergraduate students, with at least sophomore status at the time of applying.
- Applicants must also have a cumulative grade point average of 3.2 on a 4.0 scale and must be U.S. Citizens.
